EASTER AROUND THE WORLD

Easter is a time for celebrating new life. The date of Easter varies each year according to the phases of the moon. Many countries around the world celebrate Easter according to their own traditions and religious beliefs.

Australia

In Australia we celebrate Easter over a four day long weekend. The weekend begins on Good Friday and ends with Easter Monday. Many Christians go to church on Good Friday or Easter Sunday. Easter Sunday is usually celebrated with the giving of chocolate Easter eggs and with chocolate bilbies instead of the traditional chocolate rabbit. Like rabbits, the Easter bilby has long pointy ears and fine fur. The bilby is our preferred creature in Australia because rabbits are often viewed as pests that take over the habitats of native animals.

Greece

Easter in Greece is a very religious time, churches are decorated and processions are held. Eggs are painted red to represent the blood of Christ. Traditionally, when people meet they knock their eggs together and say 'Christos anesti!' meaning 'Christ is risen!' Many people also view the cracking of the eggs to be symbolic of Jesus breaking out of his tomb.

Hungary

In Hungary, Easter is celebrated with the baking of delicious pastries and the painting of hardboiled eggs. Easter celebrations take place for more than a week in Hungary. Palm Sunday is called "Flower Sunday" and Good Friday is a day for housecleaning and decorating eggs. On Easter Saturday, Easter baskets are taken to church and blessed.

Germany

In Germany, Easter Sunday is known as 'Family Day'. Lots of sweet treats are eaten, including a cake shaped like a lamb and eggs and cookies are hidden in the garden. Many Germans also have an 'Easter Fire' where they burn their Christmas tree to show that winter is over and spring is coming. It is also popular in Germany to have an egg tree. Real eggs are painted and then hung from branches in a vase inside the house.

China

Chinese people celebrate by offering eggs as gifts. These are no ordinary eggs though, they are beautifully painted and represent life, rebirth and fertility. The art of painting on eggs is part of the Chinese culture, where eggs are drained before being gently decorated with fine line art of women, sceneries and other images of beauty. The three symbols of Easter (eggs, rabbits and baby chicks) hold significance in the Chinese culture.
